

MSC Water Polo

My child doesn't know how to play water polo. Like with any sport, no one knows how to play it until they actually play it. This is a great opportunity to give your child a chance to try another sport, be part of a team and have some fun!

My child isn't a very strong swimmer. If a child can swim a length of the pool, they are strong enough to play water polo. Practices help build their endurance. During games, kids are substituted in and out based on their stamina.

It's too much of a time commitment. The water polo season is only four weeks (end of July to end of August). Practices are M-F as follows:

10 & under: 9-10am (games on Fridays) 14 & under: 11am-12pm (games on Saturday)
12 & under: 10-11am (games on Thursday) 15 & over: 11am – 12pm (games on Sunday)

Although it's great for the kids to attend all the practices, it is also understood that sometimes they just need a day off. That's okay! All games are finished before noon on their scheduled day.

I'll be on vacation during part of the season. Enjoy your vacation and join us for the weeks you will be here!

I don't have transportation for my child to the game. There are plenty of parents that can help with transportation to/from the games. The team parent for your age group will help you find carpool options.

It seems scary/dangerous. At the Olympic level, it does seem scary and dangerous. But keep in mind, your kids will not be playing Olympic athletes. They will be playing with kids of similar age and ability.

I already have my child enrolled in Kids Camp. That's great! The Kids Camp counselor will get your child to/from practice as needed. Transportation to the games can be arranged through the team parent and coordinated with the Kids Camp counselor.

I don't know if my child would enjoy water polo. Trust us, they will have fun. The coaches make that the first priority. In addition, they can give it a try at one of the free water polo clinics.

MSC Water polo has a strong tradition of building great team spirit through donut day, cereal day, bacon fest, sacrifice to the MSC water polo lake god "Quaknu", Navy Seal training and the trips to McDonald's with the coaches after the games.
